

Seamless food and beverage management

Meet KxCatering: KxCatering is your one-stop shop for managing every single element of your catering bookings, from initial order receipt all the way through to delivery. Whether bookings are internal or external, you can oversee all your catering demands in one place, and manage your logistics and finances with ease.

How it works:

Manage orders end-to-end

Monitor the status and progress of every order in one place, and receive instant alerts when orders have been changed and action is required.

Online order enablement

Integrate with our Webcatering application and allow customers to place orders that will be communicated to KxCatering.

Collect vital information

Any dietary requirements and special requests remain attached to an order throughout, so that every base of every order is covered.

Advanced reporting

Detailed data analysis on key metrics like delivery information, sales and more can be quickly accessed to uncover key trends and monitor performance.

How it helps you

More efficient operations

Bringing all order information together on a single platform saves time and effort in order management, instead of dealing with multiple paper documents and spreadsheets.

Generate more revenue

Making it easier to order from your institution reduces the risk of customers considering off-site alternatives, maximising your sales in the process.

Simplify charging

Streamlined cross-charging to other departments takes the confusion and hassle out of internal payments, and enables authorisation processes to be introduced.

Improve processes through insights

In-depth data and reporting allows key patterns to be identified, supporting better decision-making around future operations and plans.

Keep clear, detailed records

Fully digitised order progression and proof of delivery creates a complete set of records, aiding accountability and traceability.
