

Simplify and integrate your payment ecosystem

Meet KxPayments: Our seamless, user-friendly payment platform that gives you flexible acquiring options, and helps you optimise and orchestrate all your digital payments. It integrates with your existing Kinetic back-office technology, whether on-premise or in the cloud, and enables easier payment services that are more cost-effective, and deliver more choice for you and your customers.

How it works:

Payment agnostic

Request and take payments across a huge range of methods: cards, mobile wallets, money transfers including Western Union, open banking and much more.

Synchronised data

Payment and student data is automatically coordinated across your Kinetic products for consistent information and easier scheduled payments.

Zero-fee banking

KxPayments is available for a flat subscription fee, and enables online banking without any fees being applied on a per-transaction basis.

Protected and compliant

The platform is compliant with PSD2 and PCI DSS, so sensitive data like card details are kept safe for every customer.

Virtual terminals

Collect payments over the phone or over the counter through an embedded payment function within your back-office system.

How it helps you

Lower costs, better fees

Explore more choice of acquirers to get the best fees around, easily switch between them and remove acquiring costs through Open banking.

Respond to changing demands

Enabling more innovative ways of payment gives customers more choice, and eases payment processes for international students.

Easier management

Coordination of payments and profiles within your back-office system takes away the burden of reconciling systems, chasing debts and keeping accounts up to date, and the risk of human error.

Simpler experiences

Easily set up and manage customer billing, including one-off and recurring payments, which can then be managed within your back-office solution.

Add new payment options

Respond to changing customer demands by integrating new means of payment as soon as they become available.

Automated updated security

Frequent updates and instant application of patches ensures your systems and customer data are always kept safe.

Fast set-up

As a cloud-based platform, KxPayments can be set up quickly without the need for major intervention from IT experts.
